Xtremulation (Xtreme Simulation)

Xtreme, in partnership with Gamer's Cockpit, have recently produced a series of cutting-edge next generation driving simulators

highly recommended

by multiple

press and

media outlets

since 2005. The same systems

used by SONY

to launch their

flagship racing

title, Grand

Turismo 4, in Australia, Xtreme has assembled a system of 4 interconnected simulators that provide ultra-realistic driving simulation and emulation experiences.

An integrated driving and racing simulator suitable for any PC or PS3 based system, the Xtremulation Cockpit is customisable,

linkable and available for purchase or event hire at any exhibition. Designed for the racing enthusiast who wants a professional,

polished product and not a child's toy, the Xtremulation Cockpit is the best solution for the job. In order to maximise the level of realism each unit comes with multiple features that emulate the experience of actual racing. Built from a rigid still chassis for mounting your steering wheel, pedals, shifter

and sound system coupled with an extremely comfortable seat, the setup provides an optimal combination of comfort and stability.

The system allows for the mounting of robust sound systems to the chassis for a complete aural driving experience, as sound is a critical element of a realistic simulation. Completely compatible with 2.1 or 5.1 sound systems, a racing cockpit will both visually and aurally blow you away!

As far as visual elements are concerned, the chassis comes with an optional shelving unit or mobile screen stand which will position the monitor at a comfortable level relative to your face, with the image quality being limited only by the screen you choose to purchase. Each unit can be individually tailored and customised to the specifications of the buyer, with a variety of different seat types and colours, chassis themes, and branding options all wrapped up in a tough, powder-coated finish that can provide a noticeable and vibrant promotional tool either for your company or your own enjoyment.

Give your Website an Xtreme Makeover – for Free!

As a company based almost wholly on the Internet and with Internet-related services, we understand the value of having a quality website. It's the face of your company; people are much more likely these days to find you on Google rather than pick up the Yellow Pages or notice any other physical advertising. That's why we believe every visit to your website should count. According to a study carried out by the BBC, the average attention span of someone visiting a new page on the web is approximately 9-10 seconds. As shallow as it may be, much like we do with people we usually form an opinion on them within that short time - and no matter how great your business is, people won't waste their time trying to navigate around an ugly, cluttered site, meaning possible lost revenue for business.

To show you what we can do for you, Xtreme is proud to offer the "Xtreme Makeover" service - simply send us a legitimate request about your website, along with some further information about theming, colour schemes and logos, etc., and we will produce a draft for you for free so you can see the potential difference for yourself. If you are pleased with the design, we can then draw you up a quote should you choose to go ahead with the project. With experience designing websites for a huge variety of businesses in multiple different industries including tourism, construction, industrial and manufacturing, eCommerce, architecture and many, many more, we know what it takes to create positive results for businesses on the web. Best of all, we won't charge you to draft up the layout.

If you choose to go forward with a website with us,

Xtreme can also offer full integration of our CMS, or Content Management System, that allows you to easily and efficiently administer and perform future updates on your own website by yourself. For more information about Content Management Systems, please visit our CMS page here.

Surveillance Video Timelapse – Brisbane Holiday Village

Following the recent setup of an IP Surveillance system at one of our client's parks, Brisbane Holiday Village, Xtreme have put together a time-lapse video from our AXIS Q1755 camera-based system showing demolition of a current building and soon to have a new facility being built over the coming months. We chose the AXIS Q1755 for a multitude of reasons. Possessing intelligent video capabilities including H.264 and motion jpeg full frame rate, day and night functionality and providing exceptional quality images even of fast-moving objects, the AXIS Q1755 also provides 10x optical and 12x digital zoom, making it ideal for outdoor surveillance solutions that require high quality imaging at large resolutions.

The camera even comes with an option to take SD/SDHC memory cards for recording, and runs off PoE (Power over Ethernet) which eliminates the need for power cables while reducing installation costs, as well as anti-tampering detection from vandalism methods such as blocking or spray painting which are crucially important for an outdoor-based security camera.

Stay tuned to Xtreme's website for both real demonstrative images and the finalized reconstruction time-lapse video in the near future!

Research Says Spam at 94% of all Mail

SPAM mail - as long as we have an Internet connection and an e-mail address, we all deal with it on a daily basis. Also known as "junk e-mail", spam is a series of either nearly or totally identical messages sent to multiple recipients by e-mail. Having grown exponentially since the early 1990s to the current several billion messages a day, spam has frustrated, confused and annoyed e-mail users for as long as we can remember. However, recent developments in filtering technology have greatly cut down on the amount of spam received - and at Xtreme, we believe we are using the best combination of anti-spam protection and reasonable price - Kerio's MailServer.

According to latest statistics from the New York Times, spam currently constitutes an unbelievable 94% of all e-mail sent, and although governments have made attempts to put controlling legislation on the distribution of spam mail, it has not deterred spammers from continuing their dubious practice; thus having a premium quality and highly effective spam filtering mail client is crucial for both your and our businesses.

Taking a look at a recent snapshot of overall statistics for Xtreme's total mail breakdown, seeing visual proof of the numbers is staggering. As can be seen by the graph here, of an overall sum of 549,338 e-mails received at time of sampling, the figure of 372,400 of those e-mails were either outright rejected by Kerio or tagged as spam for review. That's a figure of 68% of all messages being filtered as junk.

Assuming an average viewing time of 1 hour 43 minutes of viewing time for e-mail per business day (study: American Management Association; general office environment, 2007), time spent dealing with spam by either viewing or deleting e-mails works out to approximately 1 hour 10 minutes a day per employee. The raw cost in man-hours itself means an automatic loss of wasted revenue for a company and justifies investment in a suitable filtering service such as Kerio.

As the first Certified

Partner of Kerio Technologies Inc. in Australia, Xtreme places firm trust in the system and have witnessed its' effectiveness firsthand for several years. We wholly endorse the product and as an Information Technology-based business, believe us - it's worth it.

For more information about Kerio and spam filtering in general, check out Kerio's website at Kerio Mailserver Homepage or our Kerio Mailserver summary at Xtreme Kerio.

Upcoming Events

This December - Xtremulation Night!

We would like to take this opportunity to invite all of our loyal Xtreme newsletter subscribers to a night of audio and visual entertainment as we launch our combined 4-person Xtremulation racing simulator.

Prizes will be awarded to race winners, and the event will provide an ideal opportunity for customers to both view the workings of our business and office space while getting the chance to ask questions or voice any concerns they have over our service at Xtreme.

So bring yourself and your friends or business partners along for a night of fun and information. The exact date will be announced at a later point in November.

Note: racing helmets NOT required. Vomit bag may be required for the weak of stomach or those who suffer from motion sickness (joking!).

GiftWish – Because it's the Thought that Counts

Ever wanted to buy the perfect gift for someone but just couldn't spare the cash at the time? Ever wanted something badly for your birthday and received yet another tie? Enter GiftWish, a brand new Facebook application developed by Xtreme for one of our customers. Giftwish allows you to do what no other retail application does – purchase an item virtually for a friend or family member.

What do we mean by purchasing virtually? GiftWish allows you to select a product you “wish” you could buy for a friend, and automatically provides a direct link to a variety of prices by online merchants that sell the item, along with a detailed product description and image.

Likewise, for those of you who'd like to receive a certain gift for a special occasion, you can simply search for a gift through the application, link to it, choose the occasion, and have it automatically published to your friend's Facebook walls as a not-too-subtle hint to not buy you socks again for Christmas. Finally, if virtual gifts weren't enough for you, the option is provided to buy the real thing directly from the seller with the lowest advertised price.

A fully-functional gift exchanging service for all occasions, GiftWish will be released at a point later this month.
